

Theresa Chimento MPH

Theresa Chimento is an experienced environmental consultant in both the field and as a project manager and the southcentral Environmental, Health & Safety Regional Lead. Her professional experience of environmental consulting services have included all aspects of a project, from initial scope assessment and project development, initial assessments and data gathering, preparation of assessment reports and recommendations, development of remediation protocols and abatement specifications, project oversight and clearances, close-out report and final report documentation, and project management with client and contractor correspondence through the entirety of the project.