

Maggie Mullins joined Great American Insurance Group in 2019 as Claim Assistant with the Financial Institution Services division. In this role Maggie was responsible for initial claim set up, coverage analysis, and initial contacts and investigation. After a year in this position, Maggie's supervisor encouraged her to apply for the Claim Trainee Program, to receive broader organizational and claim exposure. Maggie was accepted into the program and moved to Corporate Claims as a Claim Trainee. Maggie increased both her insurance acumen and organization knowledge and network while in the program. After graduating from the eight-month Claim Trainee Program, she accepted a Claims Representative position with Claims Resolution Services handling a broad variety of coverages.

Maggie graduated from Morehead State University with a Bachelor of Science, majoring in Marketing. She held multiple leadership roles through her involvement in honors and extracurricular groups on campus. She has earned the Associate in Claim Management (AIC-M) and the Associate in General Insurance (AINS) designations from The Institutes. Currently she is enrolled in the Florida State University's Master of Science in Risk Management and Insurance program. She is always looking for ways to increase her knowledge in the industry.

Maggie lives in Northern Kentucky and enjoys learning new things. One hobby she has recently picked up is creating stain glass pieces with her Grandfather. She is very outgoing and enjoys meeting new people throughout her professional and personal life.
