

Kevin Willging is Executive Counsel for Travelers and is based in Hunt Valley, MD. He is responsible for managing extra-contractual litigation against the company. Kevin was admitted to the Maryland bar in 1993. In 1996, he began work with Niles, Barton and Wilmer in Baltimore, MD, focusing his practice on insurance coverage and defense litigation. In 2000, he joined the St. Paul Companies (pre-Travelers merger) as coverage counsel, providing in-house coverage advice and managing coverage litigation. In 2002, he assumed responsibility for managing extra-contractual and bad faith litigation. He works closely with defense counsel in preparing pleadings, formulating strategy, coordinating consistent discovery tactics, negotiating settlements and preparing cases for trial. Kevin is a frequent speaker and a nationally recognized subject matter expert on bad faith and extra-contractual issues and litigation.